

ECONOMIC SNAPSHOT

Population forecast: Dane County's big, getting bigger

The Wisconsin Department of Administration projects that 579,976 people will be living in Dane County by 2030. That's a projected population increase of 124,049 or 27.2 percent between 2005 and 2030. Although St. Croix and Calumet counties will grow at a faster rate, Dane County is expected to add more residents than any other county.
